Chinese Exclusion Act now in force the Chi ness Government will exclude Americans from China, reads rather like the revival rumoured, if we remember rightly by a Chi . ness paper, that such an intention was har. boured by the Peking Government, but we were not inclined to credit the report, and believed it would, in any case, prove a mere brutum fulmen even if threatened. At the time we gave as a reason for our incredulity the fact that such a prospect would not be likely to have any compelling influence on the Washington Government, which rarely puts out its hand to protect American citizens engaged in fereign trade, and would not greatly trouble if a field of labour were to be closed to American missionaries. American commercial interests in China are not very great, and American merchants ejected kong. Of course if the Emperor Kwang So were to decree the expulsion of all the Americans in China they would have to go. A first class Power in point of ability to defend herself from attack on her own soil, the United States is absolutely powerless for aggression save in the case of the weakest States, who possess no navy. The United States have two or three ironcleds and are building more, but they could not cope with the Peiyang Squadron, nor could they well prevent a blockade of their Pacific coast by Chinese cruisers had Chine the courage to undertake such an enterprise.

For a time at least the Washington Government would have to patiently submit to the humiliating spectacle of seeing American citizens driven out of a semi-barbarous country as a measure of retaliation for the exclusion of Chinese from the United States: But the affront would not be either forgotbeen vindicated, and the Chinese Governof reckoning. The United States is not an LATE THE HALL & HOLTZ C. Co., LTD. aggressive though often an overbearing [28 Power—overbearing in the swagger of lusty and, truth to tall, insolent youth, anxious to assert herself and ready to see a snub or a slight where none was intend. ed. But conscious of reserved strength she is swift to resent the faintest suggestion of an outrage to her pride, and the mere threat to expel the American residents from China-if it has been made-would be quite sufficient to kindle her wrath into a flame. The Chinese Government, knowing the composition of the American squadron in China, and doubtless well aware that the U.S. Navy generally is extremely weak, while its army is practically non-existent, may possibl have plucked up courage to try what a little bluster and threatening can do to right the wrongs of the Chinese in the States. It would be better to persevere with more conciliatory means. The United States is a difficult country for any Power to coerce ; it is an impossible feat for an Asiatic Government to attempt. Moreover, after all, on what grounds can China base action that must provoke a complete rupture of all relations between the two countries? In the American Government arbitrarily putting a stop to Chinese immigration into try all round Tungchow is under water. the United States, it may appear to the Peking Government a rather selfish policy has been adopted, and in opposition to the Convention of 1880, which provides that in the rob ed. On arriving at the yamen, his mescountry or endanger the good order of any sangers placed the bullion, which was enclosed in locality within the territory thereof, the Government of China agrees that the Government of the United States may regulate, alter, or suspend such immigration "but may not absolutely prohibit it."

But the American Government still allow a few traders and officials to enter the country, and no doubt argue that they are still within the letter of the Treaty. And any event they will rejoin that China is not open to American citizens; that only in the very limited areas of the Treaty ports are foreigners—save missionaries—allowed reside in the Central Kingdom; They do shop-keeper, nothing would have been said; but not affect to treat with China on equal terms; in the matter of immigration they have de- have not been caught yet. termined to be a law unto themselves, and are clearly somewhat indifferent what China

THE FATAL ACCIDENT TO AN INDIAN CONSTABLE.

At the Magistracy vesterday morning, before Hon. H. E. Wodehouse, the adjourned as resumed into the circumstances attending the death of P.C. Jewan Singh, who was killed the 24th inst. by the explosion of a shell at for Mr. Smith's personal benefit, not that Stoneoutters', Island.

John Livesey, recalled, said-I have been at lan appeal to the Full Court Stonecutters' Island eight years and nine from. There has been gun-practice going on lately by some of the Navy: the sound came from the South Battery. I should say they must have been firing out to sea. I cannot say who were firing. They were firing during last week, the last day of firing being the day of the accident. There is firing going on all day. There are magazines on the island, but I am not sequainted with them. I do not know what men-of-war were firing. John Treadwell, bomadier, 30th battery, Southern Divison; Royal Artillery, said-I have been stationed at Stoneoutters' Island since the beginning of July. I returned to headquarters to day. I see the fragments of the shell. I cannot say what kind of shell it is, but it appears to me to be a filb. Hotchkiss shell. There are such shells on Stoneoutters' Island. are kent in the shell store in the South Battery. They are kept in metal-lined cases, but I canno: say in what quantity. I cannot say how cases there are in the store. They are kept under look and key in charge of the District Gunner. I cannot say who the District Gunner is. There are four of them stationed there. They are in charge of different kinds of guns. Mem. Inst. C. E. Hongkong, 29th July, 1890. It must be extremely satisfactory to Mr. Chadwick to find that he has been able to satisfy all parties. We understood that Mr. Leigh favoured the combined eystem as opposed to the separate system; the latter is the one adopted. In his report Mr. Leigh stated three "chief points of objection" he had to Mr. Cooper's scheme, first amongst which he placed !" Attempting to separate rainfall from sewage over thickly populated Chinese parts of the city." It was on this point, as we understood

-the separation of sewage and rainfall-that the controversy turned. Mr. Leigh in his letter also says Mr. Chadwick has decided in his favour as regards, amought other things, the "pumping station proposed by Mr. Cooper." Mr. Cooper only propos d a pumping station for the Eastern District, and that is part also of Mr. Chadwick's scheme. As regards the in Mr. Leigh's favour,-Ed. D. P.

Though many persons will not be able to credit the following it is quite true. At Sonehow, inside the West Gate, there lived a widow by the name of Chow. She being virtuous, would not remarry after her bushand died, and she supported herself by embroidering, in which art she had great skill. She had saved up some forty dollars, She had a son quite grown up, who the Government of the Chinese Empire, being was an apprentice in a store, and the mother desirous to facilitate the transmission of inter- sarned sufficient for her own support by making national telegraphic messages, have resolved to embroideries for people. The forty dollars conclude a convention having for its object the which she had saved she always took with her onnection of the telegraph lines of Tonkin whenever she went out to other people's houses with the Chinese telegraph lines, and have for for work. The reason of this was that she was that purpose, appointed the following commis- afraid that summone might steal it from her home, as her house was facing a small alley, and besides it was not floo seenrely built. One day she had to go to the temple to chin chin Joss. and as usual she took the forty dollars with her; then locking ber house up, she proceeded on her way to the temple, but before entering the sacred edifice, she thought she would just leave her money with a rice dealer for a short time, as Provincial Treasurer, Intendent of Circuit for the enclosure of the temple was much crowded and she was afraid that some pickpocket checu with military jurisdiction, Superintendent might lighten her of her burden, so she accordingly gave all she had in the world to the rice dealer, and then went in to do homage to the Joss After finishing her devotions she came out: a d went to the rice dealer for her parcel but he said." 'If you can prove it. I may possibly help you a little, but if you cannot, do not try to defame my character." So she promptly called a witness from the opposite shop to the rice store and asked him if he had seen her deposit a parcel with the rice store-keeper. The man replied that he had not. the reason assigned for this negative reply was that he had been induced to say "No by the man in the rice store, who offered him third of the amount in the parcel handed by the woman to him for safe custody. So this widow thought the case hopeless to argue any further with the man, as she could bring no evidence: therefore she went straight home and hang herself. Then her son was sent for to bury his mother. After all the funeral business was finished, the con had a visit from his dead mother, who told him, on the third day after her death to go to the temple where she went to
